The City Debt on the first day of February, 1849, as per ac- count of last year, amounted to the sum of . . . . .	$39,973 65
Of this sum there has been paid during the year, when falling due, . . . . .	19,497 00

Which has been increased by loans authorized, . . . . .	36,500 00
Making the total City Debt at this time, . . . . .	$56,976 65

The times when this sum becomes payable may be seen by referring to the Schedule of the City Debt, accompanying this Report.

Of the increase of the City Debt, $17,000 is for the purchase of Brook Farm; $8,000 for renewal of note to James Parker; $3,000 for renewal of note to the trustees of the Eliot School Fund; $8,500 for loans authorized to meet sundry payments due last spring.

For a detailed statement of the Poor and Almshouse, reference may be made to the report of the Overseers of the Poor, which is appended, and to which the attention of the citizens is directed. The expenditures for the Poor and Almshouse will be found under the appropriate heads in the details of appropriations and expenditures accompanying this Report.

The expense of supporting our poor for the few last years, having increased so rapidly and to such an extent, the City Council, in the month of April last, for reasons which appeared to them as good and sufficient, authorized the purchase of Brook Farm, situated in West Roxbury, for the purpose of locating the Almshouse establishment upon it. It seems to be a fact susceptible of the clearest demonstration, that so long as the Almshouse remains in the most populous part of the city we cannot reasonably expect any reduction in the expenditures of the poor, but on the contrary a gradual increase is certain. To place the establishment upon a better, as well as a more economical footing, and to remedy the existing evils, it was the opinion of the City Council, as well as the Board of Overseers of the Poor, after a thorough and careful examination of the subject, that the establishment should be removed to a remote part of the city,—that by so doing it would reduce the number of paupers, or at least diminish the increase,—and other positive advantages would be obtained of the highest importance to the interests of the city. The cost of the Farm was $19,150. The committee who purchased it, in their report say, “that in accomplishing this desirable object it will not be necessary to burden the people with a heavy tax. The ways and means to meet the expenditure, seem to be ready at hand. To provide for the debt incurred in the purchase, and to meet such expenditures as shall become necessary in providing such buildings as may hereafter be required, a portion of the real estate belonging to the city, (the Munroe Farm in Warren st., or the Almshouse land on Highland st.,) can be disposed of on advantageous terms, and the proceeds of the sale be devoted to this purpose. In addition to the amount obtained from the sale, the city would derive other benefits of no little importance, not the least of which is the additional amount of taxable property, which would thus be created.”

The reasons for the removal of the Almshouse and the purchase of Brook Farm, are very fully set forth in the report of the Joint Committee of the City Council (City Document No. 3,) which was published, and distributed among the inhabitants of the city, in the month of April last.

At the time of submitting the report of last year, the account against the Commonwealth for the support of State paupers was disallowed, by the Committee on Accounts of the legislature, and the matter being referred to the Committee on Claims, was reported upon favorably by that committee, but the resolve was lost in the Senate. The claim was presented to the legislature of the present year, and allowed, and the amount ($3,521 99) has been received and paid into the City Treasury, and will be shown in the accounts of next year, it not having been received in season to be exhibited in the accounts this year.

The expenditures for schools have fallen below those of last year $15,916 47. A new primary school house has been built on the Norfolk and Bristol Turnpike, nearly opposite Green street, at an expense, including land, of $3,106 12, which, added to the appropriations for ventilating the Washington School House, finishing the lower story of the Primary School House on Mt. Pleasant, the balance for the Central School House, Jamaica Plains, together with the ordinary expenses of teachers' salaries, fuel, appropriation to the Roxbury Grammar School, and contingencies, exhibits an aggregate of $29,422 76.

The appropriation for Highways, Bridges and Sidewalks was made general; but the expenditures have been made in three sections, as has been the practice for many years. These sections were assigned a certain sum by the Surveyors of Highways, and the expenditures will be found in detail under their appropriate heads.

It appears by the report of the Commissioners, that in Wards 1, 2, 3, 4 and 5, there was expended for Highways and Bridges, $7,291 42; for Sidewalks, $808 67; in Wards 6 and 7, for Highways and Bridges, $2,517 79; for Sidewalks, $289 01; in Ward 8, for Highways, Bridges and Sidewalks, $1,108 17; showing the total expenditure to be $12,015 06.

The ordinary expenditures of the Fire Department fall below those of last year, but the total expenditures have been somewhat increased, in consequence of building a new house near Wait's Mill, for the use of the Hose Company, and furnishing the hose and carriage, and the necessary apparatus and fixtures. The amount for these objects was taken from the contingent appropriation of the Fire Department, which accounts for its increase. The report of the Chief Engineer on the state and condition of the department, with details of service and other subjects connected, is appended.

Three reservoirs have been built during the year; one on Centre st., West Roxbury, one on Centre st., Jamaica Plain, and one on Pearl st. A reservoir was to have been built near the corner of Eustis and Davis streets, but in consequence of the rapid and constant flow of water, it was deemed impracticable, and a well twelve feet in diameter was sunk to the depth of eighteen feet, which, it is thought, will furnish an inexhaustible supply of water. The amount expended for reservoirs and wells is $1,271 47.

It will be seen by an examination of the details of the expenditures under the different heads accompanying this Report, that, besides the ordinary expenditures, there has been a considerable outlay for permanent improvements of value and importance to the city, amounting to upwards of $24,000; such as

The act of the legislature relating to the Cemetery, requires that the proceeds of sales of lots or rights of burial in Forest Hills Cemetery, shall be paid into the City Treasury, to be kept separate from any other funds of the city, and subject to the order of the Commissioners. The proceeds are to be devoted to the liquidation of the debt incurred in the purchase of the land, and for improving and embellishing the grounds.

The amount received into the Treasury from Feb. 1st, 1849, to Feb. 1st, 1850, from sundry persons, for sales and grading lots, was $12,077 80 And the amount paid upon the drafts or orders of the Commissioners for the same period was 11,289 33

Leaving a balance in the Treasury, Feb. 1, 1850, of $788 47

The Cemetery Debt, incurred in the purchase of the land, amounts to $27,551 55. The times when this sum becomes payable may be seen by referring to the Schedule accompanying this Report.

The attention of the citizens is respectfully directed to the report of the Commissioners of the Cemetery, appended to this Report, in which will be found an interesting statement of their doings the past year, the state and condition of the Cemetery, the receipts from sales and grading of lots, and the various items of expenditure, together with the names of the purchasers of lots.

Annexed are statements of the unexpended balances of the appropriations of the previous year, and the appropriations and transfers for 1849; the details of the expenditures under their proper heads, and the present balance of each appropriation, and a schedule of the real and personal property of the city.

All which is respectfully submitted,

For the Committee,

JOSEPH N. BREWER.

THE Overseers of the Poor of the City of Roxbury, respectfully submit the following

In consequence of the contemplated removal of the poor to the farm which was purchased last spring for that purpose, as soon as it could be conveniently done, the expenditures upon the Alms House, other than those for the support of the inmates, have been confined to such repairs only as were deemed indispensable for the preservation of the buildings, and to render them commodious for the purposes to which they have severally been appropriated.

When the charge of the Brook Farm was confided to the Overseers of the Poor, a Committee was appointed to superintend its management, consisting of Thomas Simmons, Michael Whittemore and Ira Allen; and although the season for farming was far advanced when possession was taken of that estate, the most efficient measures were adopted, by that Committee, for realizing all that it was possible to accomplish. Most of the inmates who were able to labor, were sent there. The grounds had been much neglected and but little manure could be obtained. A very competent man, by the name of Cary was employed, with his wife, to reside on the farm, the former to act as assistant, during the absence of the Superintendent, whose time was necessarily divided between the two establishments, under his control, and the latter to have the direction of the female department.

The Fruit Trees were pruned, and between eight and nine acres ploughed and planted with corn, potatoes, beans, cabbages and other vegetables. The shrubs and small trees in the pasture were dug up and removed, two acres of the meadow were ploughed, manured and sowed with grass-seed, an acre of the swamp cleared up, five acres ploughed for planting in the spring, a large quantity of materials collected for forming compost manure, many rocks blasted and taken from the fields, and about fifty-five rods of stone wall built, between the city and Palmer's land and on the side of the pasture.

During the warm months the children were sent to the Pilgrim House, where they were well accommodated, and returned in excellent health, while the other persons, who remained at the Alms House, were far more quiet and comfortable.

From the experiment which has been made, and under very unfavorable circumstances, in all respects, it is evident that with the ample means for obtaining vast quantities of the best kinds of materials for enriching the land, which the swamps, barn-yard and night-cart afford, that the extensive area and diversified qualities of the grounds can be rendered very fertile, and, within a few years, yield such crops as will greatly diminish the annual appropriations for the support of the Poor, and ultimately render the establishment as beautiful and valuable, as it will be convenient and pleasant for the inmates, and honorable to the city.

The Committee also state in their reports, "that much of the success which has attended the cultivation of Brook Farm, is due to the energetic and persevering exertions of the Superintendent;" and conclude their report as follows:

"They cannot but feel that the sooner a suitable House for the accommodation of all the inmates of the Alms House, shall be furnished by the City, at the Brook Farm, the sooner will the hopes and wishes of the philanthropic citizens of Roxbury be realized in having provided a suitable, healthy agricultural home for the unfortunate recipients of their bounty."

As it is of the first importance that the suggestion made by the superintending committee, as to the expediency of the removal of the poor to the farm, it is earnestly recommended that measures should be adopted by the City Council for accomplishing that very desirable object as soon as it is practicable; for it will not only be difficult, but much more expensive to cultivate the land, and perform all such other kind of work as is required for rendering the establishment available for all the great purposes for which the estate was purchased, so long as the existing Alms House is simultaneously maintained. Besides, neither portion of the poor can be as well taken care of, and as properly managed as to their deportment and labor, while the time and services of the Superintendent are divided between the two locations, as they would be if they were all collected within the bounds of the Farm; where, as has been fully stated in the various reports which have been made in relation to this subject, their health, morals, comfort, reformation and usefulness could be more certainly and effectually promoted, and at a less expense than in the present Alms House.

As the Board of Overseers had been informed there was an opinion entertained that the poor of Roxbury were better, and consequently more expensively provided for than those in other parts of the State, a committee was appointed, consisting of Moses Gragg, George Gregerson and Ira Allen, early in the municipal year, to examine such Alms Houses as they might deem expedient for the purpose of making a just comparison of the systems by which they were severally managed ; and in a report presented on the thirtieth of December last, they state, that they had visited those in New Bedford, Salem, Boston, Charlestown and Cambridge, and after giving a detailed account of the food furnished in each, every day in the week, they remark that “ the amount of help employed differed very little. In proportion to the magnitude of the different establishments, if there is any one of them better provided than the rest, it is that at South Boston ;” and as to the manner of living, they observe that “ New Bedford is the best, South Boston next, and Salem next, and Charlestown, Cambridge and Roxbury so nearly alike we make no comparison.”

Annexed is a report of the physician, by which it appears that the whole number of patients during the year, has amounted to 403 ; of which 317 have recovered, 45 died, 18 have been discharged, or left the Alms House, and 22 are under treatment.

The recommendation he has submitted in relation to the retention of the present Alms House for a hospital, and sending only the well inmates to the farm, is considered as very objectionable ; for in practical operation it would result in the foundation of two Alms Houses, in distant parts of the city, and involve a largely augmented and inexpedient expenditure. For if it is not to be an Alms House as well as a hospital for the poor, the destitute patients, when restored to health, must be sent to the farm ; and if a hospital is not to be established at that place also, those who there become sick must be removed to the former ; so that whether it be only a hospital, or an Alms House and hospital combined, the result in producing an augmented expense would be the same ; and if only a hospital, then would there be not only an additional and very costly institution, but the inconvenience of being so far distant from the Alms House, that the trouble and expense of alternately removing the sick and the well from one to the other, would be double that of sending both classes to the farm, where the well could be better, and the diseased as comfortably provided for in all respects as at the proposed hospital.

When the capital of the commonwealth, with a population of over one hundred thousand has not a distinct hospital for the sick poor other than that connected with the Alms House, it cannot be expected that a city so small as Roxbury should incur an expense for such a purpose, when all its means are required to be prudently managed to meet the annual indispensable demand upon the treasury. When the inhabitants shall amount to eight or ten times the present number, and the resources will warrant the measure, it cannot be doubted that a portion of the large tract of land which has been procured for the express purpose of meeting the demand not merely of the age in which we live, but of the distant future, for sites on which eleemosynary and other useful and important institutions may be reared, will be appropriated to the establishment of such a hospital as may then be required ; and fortunate will it be for the people when that period arrives, that they are enabled to have all such places of refuge for the poor and the sick far removed from the midst of their dwellings ; and what a cause of gratulation will it be to the afflicted and destitute, that beneficence had provided such a retired, appropriate and pleasant position for their abodes.

The propriety of having distinct and isolated apartments for the sick of the Alms House establishment, has ever been considered of the first importance, since the great increase of the inmates, and so necessary was it found to be when a malignant fever prevailed, the year before last, that an edifice was erected for that purpose, as well as a second for patients afflicted with the small pox.

But at Brook Farm some one of the large buildings can be used for a hospital, and the cottage as a pest house ; for the edifice required for the reception of the poor, and other purposes, can be erected sufficiently near to render them available for those objects ; and in such a convenient manner as to separate the well from the sick, and thus insure the comfort of both classes of inmates.

It is believed that the land on which the Alms House stands could be sold for nearly a sufficient sum to pay for the farm, and to supply the wants of rearing such a building thereon as is required ; it would therefore be highly impolitic to retain that establishment merely for the purpose of a hospital, when equally as good arrangements can be made for patients at the former place, and where alone they should be provided for them.

In the last report of the Board, it was recommended that a building should be provided, to be used as a chapel, school room and dormitory ; but as it was afterwards concluded that one or more of the buildings at the farm could be converted to these purposes, no appropriation was made for carrying that recommendation into effect ; and as the reasons then assigned for affording to the inmates the advantages and consolations of religious services on the sabbath, and the children a more spacious and commodious apartment for their instruction, can be reiterated with propriety, the necessity of a speedy removal of the whole establishment is rendered more apparent and imperious; for justice, humanity, piety and the duties imposed upon the municipal government, all combine to urge forward and consummate the plan, which was so timely, promptly and zealously commenced, for the amelioration of the condition of those deeply to be compassionated individuals, who rely upon the public bounty for relief, and at the same time enable the city to extend it in the best and least onerous manner.

* Left, or were removed by friends, when cholera patients were first brought to the house. Most of the insane who left were sent to Worcester. Others generally leave on recovery.

Thus it appears that, during a year of comparative health, this hospital has had its full share of the diseases prevalent in the City. It is not improbable that a like proportion will continue as heretofore. Much good is effected by this charity, much suffering alleviated and many lives saved. Still too many defer entering until the period of relief is nearly, or hopelessly, passed. Individual suffering is thereby augmented, and the expense and loss to the community increased. A remedy for this and many other ills attendant on sickness, connected with poverty and destitution, has been repeatedly suggested to former Boards, and through them to the proper authorities.* Your attention is again asked to those suggestions, especially as the present time offers a favorable opportunity for carrying out a plan similar to that so often proposed. The City Government, as you well know, has purchased Brook Farm for a Pauper Establishment, in order to give more profitable employment to the well and able-bodied, and to diminish the expense of their support. According to published documents,† it will be necessary to erect buildings for the accommodation of both the sick and the well before the contemplated removal of the establishment can be successfully accomplished. There is, however, some reason to believe that the buildings now on Brook Farm may, by a moderate outlay, be put in repair, and be sufficient for the accommodation of the well for years to come, while it is doubted whether, leaving humanity out of the question, it will be good economy even to incur the expenses of removal without avoiding those evils of the present arrangement, which arise from congregating the sick and well in one household. "The comfort of the sick," say the Committee who purchased Brook Farm, and say truly,—"the comfort of the sick, and the health of the well, require that all the really sick should be kept altogether away from those in good health."‡ It is therefore suggested, that when the Pauper Establishment shall have been removed, as contemplated, the existing brick building (near Highland street,) be converted into a General Hospital, for the City's sick, and others who, though destitute, should never be classed with common paupers. The City will thus be saved the expense of a new building for the sick at Brook Farm, and the sick poor, most of whom come from the lower wards,§ the evils

* In former Reports, particularly that of Jan. 31, 1847.

† City Document, No 6, Sept. 1849. ‡ City Document, No. 3, April, 1849, p. 6.

§ Of the more than fourteen hundred patients treated at the Alms House during the last three years, less than one hundred came from the three upper wards, and these mostly from a neighboring part of Ward 6. Very few have been taken sick in the house, except from exposure to those brought in sick—an exposure unavoidable under a system like the present, and a valid argument for the removal of the well from the sick.

and dangers of distant removal, to say nothing of the extra cost thereof; while the separation of the sick from the well, so often urged upon the public attention,—and nowhere better than in the Report of the Committee above referred to,—will also be effectually and properly accomplished.* Besides, the expense of maintaining the existing building, which is well adapted for the purpose, and in good condition,† when thus converted into a Hospital, need not exceed that of a new building, when erected at Brook Farm.

In these suggestions are only carried out the ideas of the Report before alluded to, wherein it is also truly stated that “the Hospital is becoming of more and more relative importance, and should be, as in time it must be to a great extent, a separate establishment.” ‡

The above proposed plan is believed to be feasible, economical, and for the benefit of the whole City, and as such, worthy of consideration. §

I remain, gentlemen, your obedient servant,

B. E. COTTING,
Physician to the Almshouse.

Roxbury, January, 31, 1850.

* The beneficial effects on the sick of the removal of a large portion of the well to Brook Farm during some of the summer months, were very apparent, and excited remarks from all connected with the establishment. In fact, the number of the sick, as well as the amount of sickness, is always diminished by increasing the accommodations and comforts of the sufferers—a truth too well known and admitted to need discussion.

† Thoroughly built of brick; length 100 feet; width of main 55 feet, of wings 47 feet. Kitchen and wash-rooms in basement; three stories, and a good attic. Erected in 1831, when labor and materials were unprecedentedly cheap, at a cost of $16,500; a large part of the interior since finished. Really too good a building to be demolished when so much needed for purposes above mentioned.

‡ City Document, No. 3, p. 6.—For several years past, the admissions of the sick for the benefits of the hospital have exceeded one third of the whole from all causes.

§ It should be borne in mind that this Report is predicated on the supposition that the establishment will sometime be removed. Undoubtedly the chief objection to such removal will be its great expense. The Report proposes the attainment of a great good while diminishing such expense—certainly not increasing it. For cheapness merely, the present establishment will probably never be surpassed, having, according to the best estimate that can now be made, never cost the City (after deducting State allowances, receipts, &c.) more than $6,000 a year. This estimate is probably much too large, since the net cost for the past year amounts only to $4,536.51.

COUNTER REPORT.

To the Hon. Board, Mayor and Aldermen.

GENTLEMEN: The undersigned members of the Board of Overseers of the Poor ask leave to submit a Counter

REPORT.

The undersigned do not charge the Report of the Board of Overseers with any intentions to misstate the facts; but, for the want of more and further information, they have been led into an error, inasmuch as they have given to Brook Farm a credit of $1,069.98; for it will be clearly shown that the credit ought to be the other way,—against Brook Farm, and not in its favor; for there ought to have been charged to the Farm, 1,500 days' labor for the inmates, who were supported at the Alms House, $750; 40 cords of manure taken from Alms House, $160; provisions consumed on the Farm, $265; use of horse belonging to Alms House, $100; services of Superintendent, $100,—making $1,375; subtract $1,069.98 from $1,375, and there is a balance against Brook Farm of $305.02. This balance might be increased with propriety, but this is enough to show the error. The interest on the purchase might be taken into consideration, if it were necessary. The undersigned differ in opinion from the Report of the Overseers, inasmuch as the Report recommends the immediate building of a house and other accommodations on Brook Farm, so that the paupers may be placed there as early in the season as it is practicable. It is true that we have acknowledged, and do acknowledge, that a house must be built at Brook Farm before the paupers can be placed there; but that is not recommending the immediate building of a house at this time; and, in our own opinion, there are many good reasons against such change. There is now within the limits of the Alms House yard a quantity of stone, which will employ all the inmates who are able to labor, for fifteen years to come, and it is the most profitable employment they can be set about, for there is no one material so much wanted by the City as stone, properly broken and prepared for the roads; and when this stone is all taken from the present situation, the grounds from which it is taken will be much increased in value, and the City will receive a two-fold benefit. Move the Alms House from its present location to Brook Farm, and this benefit is in a great measure lost to the City, which, in our own opinion, is more than Brook Farm can compensate for many years. The value of the present Alms House is to be taken into consideration ; for, in our own opinion, there is not in Boston, or in the immediate vicinity, a house which surpasses our own, and to abandon it, would subject the City to a great loss. The Report of the Board of Overseers in setting forth and stating the reasons why a separate hospital should not be maintained, has given good and sufficient reasons. For the Report says, when our population amounts to some four or five times what it now is, then it may become necessary, but at the present time would subject the City to an unnecessary expense ; and what they say in regard to the hospital applies equally as forcible, if not more so, against the moving of the Alms House to Brook Farm.

The undersigned most respectfully request that this Report may follow and accompany the Report of the Board of Overseers of the Poor.

REPORT OF THE COMMISSIONERS OF FOREST HILLS CEMETERY.

In conformity to the fifth section of "An Act relative to a Public Cemetery in the City of Roxbury," the Commissioners respectfully submit the following

REPORT.

The work at Forest Hills has not been suspended since that establishment was commenced, as it was ascertained that a few men could be as usefully employed during the winter as at any other season of the year, in grading lots in certain portions of the grounds, and in removing from the meadow a large quantity of vegetable loam, which has been extensively used for enriching the soil in the borders of the avenues and paths, and the surfaces of the lots, previous to their being covered with sods.

As the demand for lots was very constant, from early spring until late in the autumn, and the proprietors being generally very desirous that they should be prepared for interments as soon as practicable, the chief attention of the commissioners was directed to the accomplishment of that important object, and in the construction of avenues and paths through those parts of the Cemetery where the lots had been selected; and as the earth within their limits could be advantageously employed in filling up or elevating such lots as required it, above the natural surface of the ground, it was removed for that purpose to the depth of from two to three or more feet, and the excavations thus made filled with stones taken from the lots in the process of trenching and grading, and being then covered with gravel, a thorough drainage was secured, and the avenues and paths thereby rendered solid, dry, smooth and durable.

The variously formed plots within the areas at many of the junctions of the avenues and paths, as well as the ends of the spaces between them, have been reserved, trenched, bordered with sods or stones, and planted with trees, shrubs and herbaceous flowering plants, for the purpose of more completely developing the remarkably picturesque features of the grounds, and thus rendering them more diversified, beautiful and interesting.

The trees, with their roots, have been removed from four ranges of footpaths, which extend between White Oak and Cherry avenues, from Aspin to Fountain avenues, whose aggregate length is nearly four thousand feet, and will afford excellent sites for about three hundred lots, as the whole area of the grounds through which they pass is covered with a dense grove of native trees and shrubs.

A receiving tomb has been constructed for the deposit of the remains of deceased persons until burial lots have been prepared for their reception.

A spacious avenue has been formed, from the southern gate to Walk Hill street, through the land which was ceded by Dr. John G. Warren for that purpose; and a portion of the posts have been set for a division fence, which will be completed early in the spring. This new entrance to the Cemetery was very much required for the accommodation of those persons who reside in the southern portion of the city, and the wagoners, who transport from Quincy large blocks of granite for monuments, the foundations of iron fences, and other purposes. This avenue is more than five hundred feet in length, and is thickly bordered with trees, in nearly its whole extent, as it was cut through a natural forest.

The nursery, which was commenced in the autumn of 1848, has claimed special attention, and several thousand seedling forest and ornamental trees have been reared, which will be transplanted in April: and the seeds of many other varieties were sown in November.

Eight thousand young trees, including fourteen kinds, which were imported from England last spring, arrived in a healthy condition, except some of the coniferous varieties, and have flourished remarkably well; and many of them have been removed to the borders of the avenues and paths. They cost, delivered at the nursery, less than three cents a-piece, and will be a valuable addition to our numerous superb native species of forest trees, all of which that can be cultivated in this region, it is confidently believed will be seen growing at Forest Hills, within a few years, as well as all the elegant flowering shrubs to be found in the Northern States; and among them is the Rhododendron and the Kalmia, which are not surpassed in magnificence by any of those which have been introduced from other countries, and being evergreens, they are peculiarly appropriate for cemeteries.

During the eighteen months which have intervened since the sale of lots commenced, three hundred and twenty-six have been subscribed for, and one hundred and twenty-six of that number since the last report. Two hundred and seven have been trenched and sodded. Thirty-five have been enclosed with iron fences, and thirty-one monuments have been erected. Six tombs have been constructed, and there have been two hundred and fifty-two interments.

The results which have so far been attained are much more favorable than was anticipated within so short a period, and fully illustrate the propriety of having thus early laid the foundation of an establishment which will annually increase in grandeur and importance; for there must finally repose a large portion of the present, and of all the future generations of Roxbury, until "the dust shall return to the earth as it was, and the spirit shall return unto God who gave it." The living of each successive year will be anxious, from the dictates of affection, respect and piety, to establish and perpetuate the sepulchres of revered relatives and honored friends in such a retired, umbrageous, magnificent and sacred garden, which will continually augment the number and variety of funereal monuments, as well as insure the erection of such other structures as may be deemed expedient, and thus ultimately render the grounds as eminently distinguished for the admirable manner in which the rural and artistic embellishments shall have been harmoniously combined, as they are for appropriateness of location,—the best to subserve the holy purpose for which they were solemnly consecrated.

Mr. Brims, the Superintendent, has continued to merit the highest commendations for the faithful and able manner in which he has discharged his various, difficult, and important duties.

Annexed is a list of the names of the proprietors, with the numbers and situations of their lots.

NOTE.—The lots numbered in the foregoing Catalogue, with the exception of a few, are finished; those not numbered are paid for, but have not been selected and prepared. When lots are selected and numbered they cannot be changed except with considerable trouble, and before lot holders have the numbers of their lots cast in their fences, it is necessary to obtain the deed or the number from the City Clerk at his office. A proper lot contains three hundred square feet; where lots vary from that size the number of feet is given.
